Relations between the French and Chinese I

the Foochow Arsenal are sharpening to a point more and more. For a long time past the French have upheld a claim on the Foochow

Arsenal which, taken in round figures, amounts to 700,000 taels. During the peace negotiations in 19:11 the French Ambassador brought up this claim and succeeded in getting the same included in the indemnification to be paid to France. This however did not afterwards have the effect that the French considered their claim settled; the French representative in Foochow

still insists upon payment of this sum, and when he met with just and energetic resistance from the Chinese seized the Arsenal. But it is known this Arsenal engages to a great extent in all possible work within the province of shipboilding which in other countries is left to private enterprise. The Chinese central government has lately arrived at the only possible conclusion

private enterprise, which means that in future

import duty is to be paid for all raw material

imported for the Arsenal, the same as other private dockyards in China have to do.

In his reply to the Corean Government's line between Fusan and Seoul, says the Kobe

Herald, Mr. Hayashi, Japanese Minister to

Secul, has pointed out that the line referred to was not constructed by Japan alone. Both the Japanese and Corean Governments were re sponsible for the work and undertook to protect

it. It is believed that the Corean Government will now explain to the Russian Minister that the Seoul-Fusan line is not a similar undertaking to the Ryong-an telegraph. These particulars are wired by the Osaka Mainichi's Beoul correspondent, who adds that the Seoul Government is now negotiating with the Chinese Minister

SIR EDMUND BARTON'S reply to deputation asking for a repeal of the legislation against coloured labour in Australia is not one which is likely to raise him in general estimation as a statesman, though it may, as it was no doubt intended to, increase his popularity in Australia. It great Southern continent keeps out mainly two different classes of people, one British Indians and the other Japanese and Chinese. Now Sir EDMUND BARTON told the deputation that it was useless to ask for a repeal of the prohibitory laws until prohibition has been tried and that he personally would prefer even foreign white labour to coloured labour. A stronger declaration of the "colour line" policy could not well made. The Australian Premier, in fact, pronounced against British subjects, citizens of the same empire as the Australians them. selves, while admitting that he would rather see aliens, as long as they had white skins, in Australia. Such an attitude can only strike us as retrograde, in view of the tendency now exhibited toward solidification of the empire. But this attitude is not, of course, a new or unfamiliar one in Australia. In the most recent work on Australia, that of Mr. P. F. ROWLAND, we read :- "The existence of the teeming rice-" fed millions of India and China is the "gravest danger that threatens progressive to shut out equally the labourer and his products, in fact to create an absolutely "white Australia." But can Australia afford it? She has not the population yet, nor can have it for many years to come. And can she justly claim to be allowed to embarrass the policy of the whole empire by her discrimination not only against our allies, like the Japanese, but also against our fellow-subjects in India?

"commodities produced by his labour."

THE newly elected Pope, hitherto known as Cardinal Guiseppe Sarto, but in future to be styled Pius X, has up to the time of his election to the Pontificate been the Patriarch of Venice, which post he attained in 1893. An Italian by birth and 68 years of age, he has been little known to the, outside world as yet. In fact his election comes inther as a surprise. Among the together with an adjacent house, for £9,550 names of likely successors to the late Leo XIII Cardinal Santo's was not mentioned. Cardinal Gotti was freely spoken of Cardinal RAMPOLLA: Papal Secretary of State, and Cardinal VANNUTELLI were also named. But the choice of the Conclave has not fallen upon them. To judge from earlier telegrams, the decision was not arrived at without considerable difficulty, and it is even stated that illicit attempts were made to influence the electors. Perhaps we should regard the choice of Cardinal Sarro as of the nature of compromise. At all events, it seems that it is a choice which should be welcomed generally, for we are told that the new Pôpe is known for his broad-mindedness and for his friendliness to the Quitinal. The unfortunately strained relations between the Vatican and the Quirinal have created many diplomatic difficulties, which all nations of Europe would be glad to see smoothed over. It is to be hoped that that His Holiness Prus X will be more of a spiritual than of a political personage.

The P. and O. Company have removed the starting-point of their first of mail steamers from the Royal Albert Docks, which they have used since 1880, to the Tilbury Docks. The Chias, Australian, and Indian mail steamers will sail from Tilbury, while the Calcutta steamers and the cargo-boats will continue use the Albert Docks. The reason the Company have changed their docks is principally the fact that the four new 12,000-ton steamers, which will be out of the builders' hands before the end of the year, are too deep for the Albert Docks, says a London journal.

The Vossische Zeitung, commenting on the proposal to establish a Zollverein on German lines, says :- " The position of Great Britain towards her colonies is entirely different from that of the German States to the Zollverein. Mr. Chamberlain has no knowledge of the conditions and the history of foreign countries, otherwise he would not have made the comparison. That a British colony should ever the general opinion will be realised, namely prefer to send its representative to Parliament and from there receive its laws, we believe as little as that Great Britain is willing to be ruled by a majority of representatives of transoceanic colonies.

> Genereal Kuropatkin, the Russian Minister of War, on his recent tour attended a ball given by the officers of the Novo Ussuri garrison, a fortress in Eastern Siberia. The General complained that the ladies present were "far too extravagantly attired, especially the wives of the officers." The distinguished guest also remarked that it would not burt the wives of officers to dress more modestly; for their husbands, on their scanty pay, could not afford these luxurious toilets! General Kuropatkin has risen to his present position from the rank of a sergeant, and is a plain-spoken, hard-working man, who does not believe in luxury and extravagance, especially in connection with the Russian army, which, thanks to his indefatigable energy, is now exceedingly effective, comparet with what it was during the Russo-Turkish

Sir Horace Rumbold recently expressed his regret at the absence of direct relations between Great Britain and the Holy See, and attributed to that circumstance the failure of his attempt to precure a Vatican declaration of the falsity of the charge of ritual murder which has been the originating cause of so many massacres of Jews. Curiously enough, say the Daily Chronicle, opposition to the re-establishment of direct relations with the Vatican comes from two contrary camps-the old-fashioned British Protestants and the English Catholic hierarchy The reasons why the former dislike the idea are easily understood. On the other hand, a British Minister at the Vatican would involve the presence of a Papal Ngueio in Loudon, who would necessarily be the most important and inof extorting money from certain wealthy fluential Catholic personage in England, and would dwarf the Archbishop of Westminster. > Referring to a recent leading article on the Port Arthur Conference, a correspondent writes to the Kobs Chronicle:-The implicit assumption that you point out, as to Manchuris being " territory over which Russia naturally exercises all the rights of administration implied in the use of the ports by foreigners." Does not this statement, of a responsible statesman, mean that Manchuria is already considered Russian deal? H.E. Sir Ernest Satow, G.C.M.G., British Minister at Peking, arrived in Hongkong yesterday morning by the P. & O. s.s. Sumatra, which vessel he joined at Penang, after his visit to Raugoon. It had been hoped that he would be able to break his journey here, but unfortunately he is hastening on to Peking and is expected to sail for the north to-day. He was met on his arrival yesterday by Sir John Keane, A. D. C. to H. E. the Governor, and Mr. E. A. Hewett, Chairman of the Chamber of Commerce, and proceeded to Mountain Lodge, where he stayed last night. In the course of the afternoon be met the Committee of the Hongkong General Chamber of Commerce. Proceedings were private, but it is to be koped that at least the gist of the discussion will shortly be made public, for it cannot fall to have been of wide interest, and the brevity of Sir Ernest Satow's stop here has prevented any such proceedings as occurred in Bombay.

KWANGSI OPERATIONS. From Kwangsi it is reported that the Imperial troops are not meeting with success, but no great operations have been entered on as yet. The Viceroy is biding his time, and will not move until he is fully prepared. General Fung is expected at Wuchow in the course of this week, and he will take with him from Yumchow (Chin. how) a large body of

From the North eight regiments will arrive in I auton to-morrow. They belong to the Wu Chien Ch'un-probably the best body of troops in China, at least as far as discipline is concerned. A Hupch general is in command, and many of the officers have been trained by foreigners at Nanking or Hankow, When these troops reach Kwangsi the Vicercy may be expected to commence the campaign in enemies which are intended to discredit him," but little attention need be paid to them. His maligners say that the Viceroy has denuded Canton of money and troops. One million and a half taels have been requisitioned for Kwangei, and native banks and merchants are feeling the effects. The money market has suffered to such an extent that interest is charged at the rate of 12 per cent, on short loans. Again, Canion is reported to be exposed to great danger from any stray bands of brigands or even malcontents in the city. Of the five regiments of armed police, three have been sent to Kwangsi, and the number of troops is gradually dwindling. Members of the Trial Society are pouring into the city by tens daily. So say the gossips, but as a matter of fact Canton is very quiet now. One hears little or nothing of the burglaries and highway robberies which were of almost daily occurrence last year. The attempts to discredit the great Vicercy are

THE WATER SUPPLY.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "DAILY PRESS."

Hongkong, let August. Sin,-It is very painful to note that, as recapitulated by H. E. Sir William Gascoigue at the Legislative Council yesterday, such an. eniment man as Mr. Chadwick, on whose report and recommendation the carsed separate system of drainage was introduced in this Colony and subsequently the plague, should make such a glaring statement as to mislead others to believe the Chinese to be a race of waterwasters. Can he substantiate his statement and publish statistics to show how often Chinese were convicted of this crime? Far from that they were taught in their cradles to appreciate the precious fluid, "To think of its origin when drinking water." According to the monthly tables published by the Water Authority the average consumption in the city is about 9 gallons per head. The Government should take into consideration the great quantity used by all kinds of trade, thereby reducing the actual domestic consumption to about 7 gallons per head, which is not excessive. I contend Europeans use more water than Chinese as 9 gallons would barely suffice for one European bath alone. The New Water Bill is now before the Council: I hope the two Chinese representatives may watch the interests of their compatriots more closely. Thanking you for insertion of this in your paper.-Yours, etc., SANSANG.

THE NEW PUBLIC HEALTH AND BUILDINGS ORDINANCE.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "DAILY PRESS Hongkong, 6th August.

SIR. Regarding this vexed cubicle question, there is one point that I should like to have cleared up. The flat has gone forth under the new Ordinance that landlords are to remove all illegal cubicles on their premises. That seems simple enough, but my question is this: Suppose a tenent rents a house from a landlord and erects a cubicle of bis own, a private cubicle has the landlord or anyone appointed by him power to remove that cubicle against the will of the tenant? It seems to me that he has not, and that any attempt to remove it could and would be met by a summons for trespass and damage. It seems to me also to be rather an important point, and it is one that troubles others besides - Yours, etc.,

GREAT FLOOD AT CHEFOO.

Chefoo, 27th July. Yesterday, Sunday, the 26th July, will long remain a memorable day in the minds of residents here. At intervals through Saturday night it had rained hard at times, and on Sunday mean about 11 it seemed that things were working up for a final effort. Peal after peal of thunder, interspersed with vivid floshes of forked lightning, made the scene a larid one, while the wind blew from one quarter to another as if seeking for the best point to blow ascertaining if what he had been told was true. from, and then, although on the town level He was accompanied by his mother, the taleit was raining as bard as anyone can imagine bearer, and it is alleged that she held the wife . it possible, somewhere up in the hills at the back of the town there must have been a cloudburst or some such disturbance, for the volumes of water which came tumbling down the already full flowing creeks and gullies | cut. The police heard of the affair and arrested overspread the banks in many places and carried away houses, trees, buildings of all sorts, many unfortunate Chinese, and, sweeping all before it, rushed seaward, only to be stopped by the incoming nearly high tide, which caused the rushing water to flood all low-lying parts of the nottlement from two to three feet deep. So sudden was the rise of the water and so little contemplated the occurrence that no one had time to do much, stores being flooded, and extensive damage occurring in many godowns to goods stored on the ground tier.

FOREIGN LOSSES.

Some of the principal sufferers amongst foreign firms are Carlowitz and Co; Cornabe Eckford and Co.; Curtis Bros.; Diedrichsen, Jebsen and Co. and E. L. Mondon, Such goods as cement, straw-braid, flour, soda-casks, paper, etc., being damaged. The most extensive loss to individual property, is probably that of the Chang Yue Wine Company, as all their work of the last three years, surrounding the Austrian Consulate, suffered very heavily, buildings, wails, and coal being swept away; and it is believed the valuable wines stored in the cellars will be ruised.

DESCRIPTION BY AN EYE WITHESS. A foreign resident on Temple Hill states that the scene was awful as from that position they could see vast volumes of water tumbling down the bill, carrying houses, mules, and individuals as it swept seaward. It is at present impossible to estimate the loss of life, but the distress of those who are left homeless and destitute is very apparent. Some idea of the force of the water may be gathered from the fact, that at one point where some 400 tons of Welsh coal was stacked belonging to E. L. Mondon, Ld., the whole lot was swept into the sea. The beach is still strewn with beams, trees, logs, and all sorts of wreckage, and although some thirty bodies (Chinese) have West Beach, where the dwellers are much more packed, must be awful. AFFAIRS IN MANCHURIA.

The idea that Russia is capable of affording much more protection to China than Japan is, is gaining ground among Princes and Ministers in Peking and, in consequence (we quote a despatch to the Kokumin) the pro-Russian tendency is reviving, Prince Su, Chang Chihtung and Yuan Shikai are advocates of the anti-Russian proposal. Chang Chih-tung differs with Prince Ching, and the Empress Dowager is said to have empowered the Prince to solely and expediently bandle the Manchurian difficulty. Her Majesty is also said to have intimated to Chang that he would do better to refrain from repairing to the Palace and personally memorialise on the question. The 13th and 16th Russian Regiments at Kirin and Liaoyang respectively left on Thurs'ay for Dolny, 300 soldiers in Shanhaikwan also left for Yinkao (Newchwang) yesterday.

A Dalny despatch of the 18th inst. stales that General Kuropaikin has ordered that the garrison of Dalny is to be increased to 15,000 men. Several regiments are expected there within a fortnight. Small batches of the men have already arrived. Two large forts are being built and Chinese coolies are employed day and night. The construction of forts to cover the railway between Daluy and Port Arthur is being pushed on. The Russian authorities intend to concentrate six divisions of men in Liaotung Peninsula and are now moving men from Amur and Kirin provinces. The authorities intoud to make use of this in pretending that they have evacuated Manchuria. The Russian efficials who have been investiga ing matters relative to the storage of provisions. and coal have probibited the export of grain from Newchwang. The rumour regarding the and then we are fold that Mr. Duff is a public purchase of 250,000 tons of coal and 80,000 tons of smokeless coal by Russians is reported to have some truth. A large quantity of Kaiping coal was recently sent to Port Arthur from Chingwantso .- Kobe Herald.

The Jewish Chronicle mentions a novel use for the phonograph. tome time ago the Hungarian Jews in Chicago wrote to the Chief Rabbi of Prescharg in Hungary asking him to recommend an orthodox Rabbi able to preach in their native language. Press urg is a long way from Chicago, and it was too much to expect that a Rabbi could drop across for a Sabbath to preach a trial sermon. That was where the phonograph showed its use. The recommended candidate spoke his best sermons, in his best German and Hungarian, into the instrument, and when the resords were reproduced i Chicago they gave such delight that the preachor was elected at a handaome salary.

MISSIONARIES AND COWS. "F. A. G." writes in the Kobe Chronicle :-There is a place in China to which I should like to go at the present time, only that I feel quite sure Kobe would miss me. It is called Kuling, and, as might be expected from its name, is a place to which missionaries flock when the plains are melting in the fervent heat Naturally they send accounts of their doings to the Shanghai papers, and these missionary contributions are always so strikingly interesting that I read them with the greatest pleasure. There is something so domestic, for example, about the following:-"Much might be done to improve the food supply. To much lean meat comes up the hill All should boycott lean meat, as it may be from diseased cattle. One feels pretty safe. when it is fat. Mr. Duff is a public benefactor and we wish him great success in his enterprises. His butter and milk are excellent, and there is a wonderful quantity of cream on his milk. It by the person to whom it is addressed. is to be hoped that he can give a full supply to all this year." Now who is "Mr. Duff"? learns first that all should boycott lean meat and that one feels pretty safe when it is fat, benefactor who has a wonderful quantity of cream on his milk and it is hoped he can give a full supply! I suppose it is all right, but it seems a little frivolous to speak of a cow in this way. But the cow is an indispensable household, and maybe is in consequence given the honorific. I have recently been trying to find out through the Jesuit missionary letters of the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries what the missionaries to Japan in that age did about the greatcow question. So far as I can discover, however, they were unaccompanied by a single pecimen of these interesting animals, and how they managed to do their work and make so many converts puzzles me altogether. The fact,

however, that the work was not lasting is clear

INVESTIGATION OF BINDERPEST IN CHINA.

During my stay in Shanghai, I had the pleasure of visiting the cattle-yards, a short distance from the city, and became very much interested in the successive means employed for the prevention of "rinderpost." In the first pince, the cattle-yards are divided up so that each drove of animals, in various stages of the inoculation, are separated and apart from the others, those which have the severest form of the rinderpest, contracted by the immune procedure, are placed in a covered yard composed of numberless stalls and capable of containing as many as five hundred head comfortably. This yard is called the " sick ward," and particular pains are taken in the methods used for the disinfection of it; all the straw and other material, after contamination, is burnt, and a liberal use of lime is made. Not only is all waste material destroyed by fire and other means of absolute disinfection, but scrupulous cleanliness is observed in all matters, whether pertaining to the care of the animals or to the appliances of this so called "sick ward." Those animals that recover from the inoculation and are convalescing are placed in other yards, according to the extent of recovery, and finally, after they begin to enjoy their meals and take on what flesh and fat that were lost during the two weeks of immunisation, they are ready shipment to the Philippine Islands. It may appear to the unprofessional observer that such stringeut means are unnecessary, but not so; nithough as great a percentage as from ton to fifteen die while undergoing inoculation, the least deviation from the methods employed by the proprietors would result in failure to thoroughly immunise sufficiently to satisfy the U.S. Government.

The rinderpest serum for Chinese cattle is prepared by an export, and the same veterinarian supplies serum for immunising the large num-Shanghai, which enquired into the stranding | bors of carabao that have been recently shipped of the sailing vessel Carrier Dove, has been to the Philippines. At present as many as fifty thousand carabao are being transported from China (at Uncle Sam's expense) to make up for The evidence before us shows that, as the the loss in the Islands from the ravages of rinderpest of this valued beast of burden.

It may seem strange, nevertheless it is a fact that few people really know what rinderpest is. I have heard it described all the way from footrot to a chronic skin eruption, and I myself had been at a less until on this recent occasion I had the pleasure of investigating its character Shortly before 4 o'clock a.m. of that day, he in person. I must say that I was surprised at sent the second mate aloft, who reported that he my discovery, for I found a complaint that could just see a revolving light in that direction. | corresponds almost exactly with soute dysentery Not satisfied with this report, the Captain then in the human being. Both of these Captains and continued elevation of temporature, which lasts about one week or ten days, when the climax is reached, and when they either get better or die. None but cloven-footed animals contract the rinderpest; no case of a horse, for instance, having had the disease, is on record.

The régimé for inoculation is simple. The nimal is placed in bamboo stocks (in the West we would use something else, so that the feet are secure, otherwise in demonstrating his objection to having needles run into his flesh the bullock might naturally delay the process, which usually takes twelve and a half minutes). Ten cubic centimetres of virulent blood from another animal with the disease in progress, and fifty C.C. of the prepared serum from an immune animal, are then injected into the subcutaneous tissues, just behind the fore-legs, well down on the abdomen; and after about twelve and one half minutes, the serum and germ-soaked blood begin a battle for supremacy in the system of the unfortunate bovine. Which will win remains to be seen. This incoulation is repeated in five days, sometimes in less time, and sometimes two or three extra injections are needed, depending on the animal's condition; then you increase either the amount of serum or infected blood

It is to be hoped that by continuous inoculations and perseverance on the part of Government employees, as well as private firms, at some time in the future a breed of cattle will be developed that shall be immune from birth. thereby removing one of the greatest curses the Filipinos have to contend with at present. Let us trust that the honest work of henest men may continue in this direction, and that science may soon be blessed with further discoveries for eradicating this fearful pest. - Contributed.

ALLEGED PHYSICAL DEGENERATION.

In the House of Lords on the 6th ult. the Earl of Meath drew attention to the question of physical training, and asked the Government whether they would be prepared to grant a Royal Commission or a Committee of Enquiry with a view of ascertaining whether the poore populations in the large towns were exposed to conditions which, if continued, must inevitably contribute to a low national standard of physical health and strength, seeing that if such was the case it would constitute a grave national peril. The Bishop of Ripon thought there were very good grounds for asking for the proposed enquiry. The question they had to consider was whether or not we were supplying a race calculated to hold this great Empire together, and to fulfil what they all believed to be the duties and destinles of our people. The answer was that there was evidence that the rate of increase was so declining that we could not claim that we were putting forth in sufficient numbers men and women who could hold their own in the great days that were coming. Figures showed that in the last twenty years the size of families had declined from 4.8 to 3.2; and if in another sixteen years a like decline took place the natural source of increase among us would inevitably be dried up. There was a vast shrinkage in the birthrate in the United Kingdom, and he was sorry to say there were signs of a diminished growth also in our great colonies. The matter was one which did seem to call for investigation, for, as Lord Rosebery had said, "It is easy to have an Empire, but what is the use unless we have an Imperial race?" We were living in a State which now held three-quarters of its which burned up the energy which was essential

The Duke of Devousbire agreed that the condition of things was serious not only from the military point of view, but from an industrial standpoint. The Secretary of State for Warhad "KING EDWARD VII," been in communication with the Home Office and the Local Government Board as to this question The rector of the Church of S. He thought it was extremely likely that a Royal Commission would be found to be the most desirable form. (Hear, hear.) It was proposed, however, in the first instance to refer this subject to the medical profession as to the best means of obtaining information and as to what were in their opinion the causes of this undoubted presical degeneration, and what would tend to improvement of national strength. When the preliminary enquiries had been completed,

WRITING AT A DISTANCE - DUST STARS -A DISEASE OF PAVEMENTS-IMITATION MOUNTAIN BUILDING -- IN THE SEA-SEEPENTS HOME- ARMED CRABS - IM-PROVED X-RAY VISION-HOW LIGHTNING MAKES ITS PATH-MALARIA OF HORSES.

The telechirograph, or writing telephone, of Ernst Karl Grahn, is ingenious if not simple The transmitter is a pencil whose lead has a pressure of writing closes a vertical motion current in the up and down strokes and horizontal one in the forward movement These currents control magnets in the back of a small mirror in the receiver. I his mirror rocked by the magnet, and a pencil of light from a concentrating lens is reflected upon strip of sensitised photographic paper. The deflected ray of light follows the movement of the writer's hand, producing a facsimile of the pencil's marking exact enough to serve as a signature to a check. The sensitive film is drawn GODOWN at BOWRINGTON (PRAYA through a developing bath by a little electric

That dust should settle in regular figurescrystallising, so to speak, like the snowflake-71 seems rather surprising. Using plat s heated 10 deg. or 15 deg. above the atmosphere, Mr. W J. A fungus that rapidly destroys wood pavements is giving trouble in English cities using such paving. The fungus spreads from infected Compredore Department A. R. In laboratory experiments on the formation of mountain chains, pressure has been applied in one direction only, but in the new apparatus | consumption, though unquestionably it is a very of Lord Avelury four beams of wood are drawn FEIWO SUITES of ROOMS in the Ground | together by screws so as to give compression in two directions at right angles to each other. The space between the beams is two feet square and nine inches deep. In this space are placed pieces of baize separated by saud, and the working of thescrews pushes the sand up until it is flattened against the plate-glass covering the apparatus, when casts are made of the different layers of baize. The results are found to imitate closely much of the folding and other phenomena observed in Nature's mountain building. The ridges in the bottom layer, as in nature, are narrow, short, precipitous and greatly broken up, but become wider, longer and less steep until the layer below the sand on the top is plateau-like. Many variations in natural conditions can be represented.

of the deep seu, many forms - perhaps some of whom I consulted told me plainly that he feared great size-must still be unknown. The Prince of Monaco, one of the greatest of marine naturalists, has shown that life of some kind probably reaches the deepest ocean bottom, and in a very ingenious way he has proved the existence of an enormous octopus that appears to frequent the middle depths of the Atlantic. Noticing that the dying sperm-whale rejects some of its baset food, he hastened to secure. some of this. It included fragments of such an octopus, and one of the antennae, though incomplete, measured not less than 29 feet in that medicine to all who suffer as I did, and for length.

The curious habit of carrying a live seaanemone is each of its two claws is ascribed to the Melia, a genus of small crabs of the Maldive Archipelago, M. Borradailestates that the crab's claws are too frail for use in defence, and it is not clear whether the anemones are held as a means of protection or as a trap for food.

A painstaking survey of the fishes of the Nile, extended for up both Blue and White Niles, has just been completed. It adds 14 new species to about 90 known before, and gives FRIHE OFFICES of the above Company have much other valuable information.

The X-ray stereoscope of M. T. Two shutters electrically controlled by the oscillating apparatus, allow the right eye to view one image and the left the other, vision being entirely cut off during the change of the tube's position. The combination of these im ges gives an apparently solid reproduction of the object, and the effect is claimed to be superior to that obtained with two tubes or with a tube having two anti-cathodes. -

Walter showed that an little play in the metallic casing, and the electric spark feels its way from the positive pale to the negative in a rapid succession of preliminary sparks of increasing length, By some excellent photographs with a moving camera, he has now proved that lightning similarly establishes a conducting path through the air by a series of minor flushes, and that as a rule the lightning pa-ses from the cloud to the earth as a series of continuous discharges.

> The horse-sickness of Cape Colony resembles human malaria, and attacks animals exposed in low-lying swamps or left out at night. Houses pass safely through affected districts during the day. The Government bacteriologist of Natal suggest, that mosquitoes carry the infection, and he has shown that horses protected by wire gauze or smoke may remain unharmed in the midst of the dicease while the unprotected succumb.

Earthquakes are due to dispharges of electricity between strata of good conductivity and insulating strata, like granite and silica, in the view of Prof. Pilsudski. The discharges generate gases, to which the observed effect

A LAND OF PROMISE.

In the not very remote plat when Europeans looked to South Africa only for estrich festuers and sunshine, it was a common practice for English doctors to order hopeless coses of pulmonary disease to this coun'ry. "When there is no hope at home try the Cape of Good Hope"; "Keep below deck until you reach Madeira," &c. How painfully familiar such phrases sound. Often the prescription succes !ed; more often it failed. It is within the knowledge of everybody that the late Cecil Rhodes came here to find health, not fortune, and succeeded in gaining both. But his experience was not the common one. The comsteries of South Africa are dotted with nimizer as many graves of Englishmen who came here in quest of health as of the e who were slain in battle or died of diseases incident

It is a fact, established beyond possibility of dispute, that no climate the world can offer is sufficient in itself to arrest the progress of important aid to other treatment.

But what should that of we treatment bo? No question was ever more debated, or is still further from settlement. We will not attempt to an ever to but allow Mr Charles Rodgers, of East Londou, to give a brief not rut of two illness:s from whi h he has a Treed, which throws considerable light upon the matter. Writing on February 9th, 1913, Mr. Rodgers observes:-" I fund it my duty to bring to public notice the benefit I have received by using Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup. Five years ago I was stricken down with rhoumatic fever, and was attended by three different doctors; but their united efforts did me little or no good, and my condition was for a long time very precarious. It was then that a friend advised me to try Seigel's Syrup, and I resolved to accept his advice. I was delighted to find myself very soon able to walk about as usual, and after taking only three bottles of the medicine I was capable of resuming my business. "In July, 1900. I exp-rienced another and a more serious trouble. It was found that I was In spite of the efforts to trap the animals suffering from a very weak chest A doctor I was consumptive, and ordered me to come to South Africa. I entertained no doubt that I was for gone in consumption, having all the signs of that disease, but especially an extremely weak chest and an ever-present feeling of weakness and languor. " W thant being advised to do so, but with the recollection of the good that it had done me two years before in curing mo of another complaint. I had the happy inspiration to try Mother Seigel's Carative youp. The result exceeded my most sangaine expectations, and it was not long before I was as strong and healthy as any man could wish to be. I strougly recommend the use of the sake of humanity would like my case to be known far and wide."

Provise and performance are not quite the same thing, as many have discovered to their cost; but the people who have built high hopes upon that from which Mr. Rodgers received so much benefit were never yet known to be disappointed.
